STATIC DISPLAYS

This will take you directly into the static booth display area located in the Conference Center where you will view a typical booth display. The contents and subjects, including videos displayed in the booth, are "Controllable" and can be changed at any time by our web tech team to meet the company's marketing needs.

The company's sales representative(s) will be able to discuss their products with viewers on our website through the computer monitor on the right of the page (with the lady) which will provide direct live, two-way video/audio communications between the viewers and a company's sales representatives.
